An Almost Fatal Jump.—An employee of the Pennsylvania railroad company named Saltzman, residing on Derry street, east Harrisburg, and who is employed as a car cleaner, made a narrow escape from receiving fatal injuries, yesterday, under the following circumstances: He got on the way passenger train west, at the depot, with the intention of stepping from it at the round house, above Herr street, when the train reached that point. As it neared the round house it had attained a tolerably high speed, and in attempting to jump off, Mr. Saltzman was hurled through the air, and completely turned over, striking the ground violently, cutting his head severely and injuring one of his hands. His wounds were dressed by the company's physician, after which he was removed to his home on Allison's hill.—Patriot of the 13th inst.

Shocking Burning Accident.—An accident of a horrible nature occurred about eleven o'clock yesterday forenoon, at the residence of Mr. D. Freed, who resides in the frame row at Muench's brick yard, on the east side of the canal, nearly opposite Bailey's central iron works, between State and Herr streets. Both Mr. and Mrs. Freed were absent from home at work—the latter at a house on Pennsylvania avenue—and left their eight children in charge of their son Johnny, who is eleven years old. About the hour above stated Johnny undertook to start the fire in the cook stove, and for that purpose procured the coal oil can, the other children standing around the stove watching the operation. No sooner had the oil come in contact with the hot coals than a terrible explosion occurred, and the blazing oil was thrown around the poor children in every direction, setting their clothes on fire. Ella, a little girl aged 5 years, received the greater portion of the contents over her clothes, and in an instant her dress was in a blaze. The oldest boy seized hold of her and dragged her out of doors and threw her into a pond of water in the rear of the house, and succeeded in extinguishing the flames, but not before the little sufferer was shockingly burned about the face, breast, arms and body, down to the very feet, inhaling the flames and rendering her case most likely a fatal one. The boy John was badly burned while trying to save his sister.

Martha, the baby, 18 months old, was lying on the floor, near the stove, when the explosion took place, and the child's head and left side were fearfully burned and blistered by the burning oil. Emma, another little girl eight years old, in her endeavors to smother the flames had her hands severely burned. None of the other four were injured in the least. Drs. A. L. Alstead and Jacobs, of this city, was summoned to the scene and did all in their power to relieve the unfortunate little sufferers, but their efforts to save the baby and the six year old, Ella, will probably be of no avail. The two children were pronounced to be in a dangerous condition late last night and the impression was that the baby and Ella would not survive their injuries till this morning.—Patriot of 13th.

Killed and Thrown into the River.—On Tuesday last the day express East, while crossing the Tuscarora creek, near Perysville, struck a man who was on the bridge, and knocked him in the river.—The engineer stopped his train, but seeing there was no chance of recovering the body went on to the next station and sent word back to Millin. Men were at once sent to the scene of the disaster, but they were not able to recover the body, it probably having been carried by the swift current into the Juniata. They however, found the coat he had on his arm at the time, which had papers in the pocket, showing that the unfortunate man was Mr. John D. Hostler, a resident of Turbett township, Juniata county. Up to the time our correspondent wrote (Friday night) the body had not been found.

A few days ago the lock on a four-horse wagon caught the hand of Emery McCahan, residing in Fermanagh twp. The nail on the third finger was torn off, and the hand was bruised in other places.

A few days ago a horse kicked Mr. Emanuel Moyer, residing in Fermanagh twp., so severely on the left ankle joint as to render walking quite a difficult matter on the part of Mr. Moyer for a number of days.
